How to Raise a Drug Free Kid: The Straight Dope for Parents

Teens say that drugs and alcohol are the number one problem teens face today and parents say their worst nightmare is their child getting hooked on alcohol or drugs. This speaker will give you the tools to prepare your daughter or son for that moment of decision when a friend, a classmate, or a group at a party offers them a drink, a joint, a snort, or a pill to get high.

The first 250 adults to register will receive a "free" copy of the book.

Presenter: Joseph A Califano, Jr. is founder and chairman of The National Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse at Columbia University. Mr. Califano has held various United States government positions and served from 1977 to 1979 as U.S. Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, where he launched the nation's anti-smoking campaign. As well as an author, he has been a faculty member at Columbia University, a member of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences and currently serves on the boards for several profit and non profit organizations.
