ESPECIALLY FOR PARENTS

The Library affirms the right and responsibility of parents and legal guardians to determine and monitor their own children's use of Library materials and resources. Parents and legal guardians for people under 17 years of age assume responsibility for their children's computer and internet use by signing their child's Library card application. To assist parents in their responsibility for their children's use of the internet, the Library:

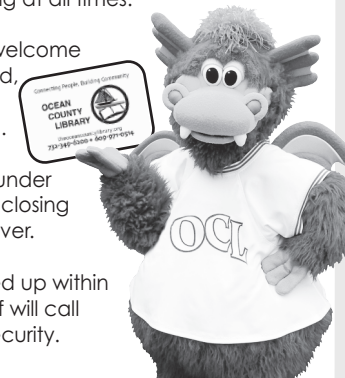

- Provides specially designed Web pages for children and young adults, with links to age-appropriate internet sites.
- Provides commercial filtering software on all computers. This filtering software will block many specific sites, but may not block all materials offensive to all users.
- Considers the placement of public computers in each Library location to minimize inadvertent viewing of public computer sessions.
- Offers internet training classes at all locations for parents, teens and children.

Parents should inform their children of websites they do not want them to visit and may wish to supervise their children's Internet sessions.

UNATTENDED CHILDREN

The Library is a public place and the safety of all children is therefore a serious concern.

- Children under the age of 6 may not be left unattended in any part of the library.
- Children 6-8 years old must have a parent or adult caregiver in the building at all times.
- Children 9-12 years old are welcome to use the Library unattended, but should not be left alone for extended periods of time.
- When unattended children under the age of 14 are present at closing time, staff will call the caregiver.
- If a child has not been picked up within 15 minutes after closing, staff will call the local police or county security.
